Welcome to the EFMC 2008

I would like to extend a very warm welcome to you on behalf of the City of Manchester. I am delighted to have this opportunity to say how pleased we are that the 2008 European Facility Management Conference is being held in our city.

In Manchester you will find a vibrant regional capital which has established itself as a leading European city in its hosting of national and international conferences. A city with style and flair and all the warmth that has made Manchester famous for centuries. A city that has the largest financial, legal and professional community outside of London, add to this unrivalled transport links, first class conference facilities, an excellent range of hotels, cultural and sporting venues and you have an unrivalled destination.

I am particularly pleased to welcome those people who are visiting Manchester for the first time and hope you have time to see something of what the city has to offer.

I offer my good wishes for a successful conference and hope that you will return in the future.

Councillor Glynn Evans,
Lord Mayor

On behalf of EuroFM and IFMA we feel very honoured to be part of EFMC 2008. IFMA and EuroFM will again jointly present EFMC, the single most well known conference in Europe dealing with facility management topics.

Both streams of the conference, the Business Conference as well as the Research Symposium, will be supported by more than 28 national facility management associations and more than 37 research and educational organizations – amongst which are highly recognised institutions like the British Institute of Facilities Management (BIFM), the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors (RICS) and the University of Salford.

One of our Plenary Panels "FM worldwide – similarities and differences in different global areas", has the aim to present highly recognized representatives from different regions of the world the different views and varying global objectives for facility management.

In addition, the Student Poster Gallery Contest and the European FM Awards, both created to recognize outstanding achievements in the FM world, are expected again.

You may also utilize EFMC 2008 as the platform for networking with delegates and speakers with the most professional background as well as students, educators, professors and researchers in facility management.

We invite you to come to Manchester – we would be delighted to welcome you.

Albert MM Pilger
Chairman EuroFM

Gary Broersma,
CFM IFMA Chair, IFMA Board of Directors

The Learning Experience

The Business Conference, Research Symposium and associated events will also create a physical and virtual learning experience for all participants to share ideas, knowledge and expertise in a community of practice.

Creative Facility Management

- Pecha Kucha Night: A show and tell, multi-media participatory event in an informal environment. Monday, 9 June 2008, 20.00-21.30 hours
- Second Life: EFMC 2008 will be created as a virtual conference on second life as part of Digital Manchester.
- Third Places: ...neither home nor workplace, but somewhere between... Places to meet, socialise, relax, hang out, work away from the office – at the Conference and in the City.

The Manchester Experience

A programme of themed visits, hosted by local partners and supported by sponsors will provide the opportunity of understanding key issues being addressed by facility management practitioners in Greater Manchester (limited to 20 participants/registration necessary).

- Tuesday, 10 June 2008 (pm): Urban Sustainability: Spinningfields redevelopment (Manchester's modern financial centre) – A facilitated visit, with the opportunity to meet key people and organisations involved in its development and management, including Allied London and RBS.
- Wednesday, 11 June 2008 (am): Empowering Communities: Visits to renewal areas in Salford (Salford Innovation Forum) - Meet and work with local stakeholders, enabled by internationally acknowledged mentors and coaches. Understand community needs and create an innovative vision for developing and managing community facilities.
- Wednesday, 11 June 2008 (pm): Media City (Salford Quays/The Pie Factory) – A themed interactive workshop, in creative space, exploring ideas of open sourcing in FM (includes an opportunity to learn about emerging plans for Media City; based at Manchester's waterfront on Salford Quays, mediacity: uk is the most significant media development in the UK).

Pre- and post-conference events
